

Part 5: Conclusion

In the conclusion we need to summarise and link back to the purpose. It is important to:

- Give a brief summary
- Link back to the research... do our findings match up?
- What is the impact of these findings?

For each of the graphs write up a conclusion, the first two have been done for you.

In conclusion, there appears to be a definite decrease in the amount of sea ice at the North Pole. This should be of concern to people living in low lying areas as this means the sea levels are likely to be rising, potentially putting their homes at risk of flooding.

In conclusion, the amount of male births fluctuates widely depending on the economic climate, therefore if the doctor feels like economic times are improving he might want to employ more staff, but if he thinks economic times are likely to get tougher then he should not employ more staff.